

S is for Sesame Street in Communities Spring Training

Arizona PBS and Sesame Street in Communities are excited to present:

"Caring for Each Other – Using SSIC for Health Emergencies"

This is a 1.5-hour professional development opportunity for Gila River Indian Community childcare providers, teachers, and parents of young children (0-8 years).

As a result of COVID-19, families around the world are needing to adjust, adapt, and keep each other safe. In response, Sesame Workshop is launching the Caring for Each Other initiative. We will talk through how to stay calm, in control and healthy with Sesame Street in Communities resources.

Upon completion of the workshop and follow-up surveys, you will receive children's books and other tools to support your important work with children and families. Providers will also receive 1.5 credit hours of professional development credit in the Arizona Early Childhood Workforce and Professional Development Registry.
